A Cup of Pretend

By Tansill Johnson

Illustrated by Susan Emery

When it's too cold to play outside, a cup of pretend is just the thing to warm your heart and spirit! Join a little girl named Rainbow and her grandmother, Mooma, for an afternoon of make believe. You'll discover that a little imagination goes a long way, and that you're never too old to be a kid at heart!

About the Author

Tansill Johnson received her English degree from Goucher College and her master of arts in international relations from Salve Regina University. She worked for the U.S. Army in public affairs for over thirty years. She is a mother and a grandmother and is known as "Mooma" to all her grandchildren. Over the years she has read hundreds of books to her grandchildren and was inspired to write fun, simple stories drawn from real-life experiences. She is also the author of Mooma and the Mouse and Who Is Mooma?

About the Illustrator

Susan Emery was born in Troy, NY, received her degree in art education from St. Rose College in Albany, NY, and her master of science in art therapy from Mount Mary College in Milwaukee, WI. She works in pen and ink and mixed media and gathers inspiration from everyday life.
