Felix

Story By
Lisa Lucas

Illustrations By
Laurie Stein

Felix, the most beautiful bird at the zoo, is trapped in a cage. When he finally breaks loose, he is free to do what he does best: wiggle his tail, kick up his feet, and dance on his toes. His awesome moves draw crowds wherever he goes. His life is perfect until one day ... he's forced to make a choice.

About the Author

Lisa Lucas began her career writing for magazines and newspapers. Later, she wrote articles about issues related to literacy and health, which were featured by The Canadian Public Health Association, several literacy organizations, and hospitals across Canada. She's the recipient of The CIBC Children's Miracle Maker Award for advancing literacy among people with disabilities. Several years ago, Lisa began writing for children, covering subjects from climate change to refugees. Her work has been recognized by the New York Times, Kirkus Reviews (starred), Publishers Weekly, and many more.

About the Illustrator

Laurie's love of drawing began at age three while crayoning her way up the staircase. Those crayons were quickly replaced with pencils, paints, and paper. After graduating from both art and animation schools, she started to illustrate children's books, designing characters for animation studios and products for licensing.
